TOO MUCH SCIENCE, SAY OHIO FARMERS OF STOCK EPIDEMIC

Claim They Lost Million Dollars a Day by Restrictions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Conflicts growing out of the enforcement of the livestock foot and mouth disease quarantine in Ohio were heard today
at a hearing before the senate special investigating committee.

Willis Jones of Mount Sterling, O., told the committee that there had been too much science in the conduct of the quarantine, and estimated the restrictions imposed had cost the farmers of Ohio a million dollars a day
for six weeks. A. E. Thomas of South Charleston asserted that after two weeks the statewide quarantine should have been reduced to community restrictions.

James Devine of Chillicothe said the scientists had not liberalized the quarantine voluntarily, but had done so only after orders from Governor Cox and as a result of the introduction of the senatorial resolution of inquiry into the quarantine.

Dr. H. E. Higgins of Richland county testified that he had examined one quarantined herd in Richland and found no trace of any disease.

A. P. Sandies, Ohio state commissioner of agriculture, in cross-examining Dr. Higgins suggested that the hostile attitude toward the officials assumed by Dr. Higgins and farmers in Richland county might cost the latter much money.

Prosecuting Attorney Knapper of Seneca county testified that everything possible had been done for the farmers in that county in view of the outbreak there.

"How do you account for the fact that Seneca county was so well treated?" Mr. Thomas inquired.
"Because we cooperated," was the reply.

Commissioner Sandies predicted the end of the epidemic was over. Dr.
Paul Fischer, state veterinarian, submitted that with practically no one in the state who had ever seen the disease the quarantine had been handled as well as could be expected and that the same system, with improvements, would be followed in future outbreaks. Dr. David S. White of the Ohio State university also defended the quarantine.

HOUSE SPEEDING UP FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Moon Attributes Defeat of Postal Changes to Railroad Influence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—With its machinery at high speed, the house today turned out the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and began consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill, clearing the way for the making of a legislative record before the Christmas holidays, beginning next Thursday.

The legislative, executive and judicial bill, carrying $58,000,000 was passed after less than three days' actual consideration. Provision for an agricultural census costing $2,250,000 and a proposal to reduce the mileage of members from 20 to 5 cents a mile, were stricken from the measure.

Plans of Postmaster General Burleson for departmental changes "were blocked when the house voted down a special rule to make in order new legislation reducing the pay of postmasters, revising the railway mail pay system, authorizing experimental substitution of contracts for the railroad rural carrier system in one county of each state, and providing for organization changes desired by the administration in the department. The rule was defeated 148 to 181, many Democrats joining the Republicans in opposing it.

Moon Scores Democrats
Chairman Moon of the postoffice committee made a vigorous speech criticizing the Democrats who voted against the rule, asserting that "railroad influence has been hard at work to defeat the provisions of this bill revising the railway mail system." He declared that the defeat of the rule was a betrayal of Democratic principles and a betrayal of the Democratic administration by the majority on the floor.

Representative Harris interrupted to assert that the only opposition to the rule in the rules committee was exercised by "railroad interests."

"Name them," shouted Republican Leader Mann. "Let's know who they were."

The house was in a turmoil for a few moments, and when the tumult subsided, Representative Moon shouted:
"I can name them. I say here and now that the railroad interests tried to defeat this bill in the rules committee."

MEN REPLACED BY BIG LOCOMOTIVES

Means More Work, but at Same Pay; Firemen Are Heavier Sufferers

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Testimony further to impress the western railroad wage arbitration board with the fact that the advent of huge locomotives has thrown many engine men out of employment was adduced here today.
The witnesses, all firemen, were Henry Rose Chicago & North Western,
Keosauqua, Mich.; William Halston,
Denver, & the Grand Pacific, Colo.;
L. J. Kane Chicago Milwaukee & St.
Paul; Alvarado S. D.; H. M. Jones,
Great Northern, Great Falls, Mont.;
and J. F. Sexton Frisco Railroad, Sherman, Tex. They were questioned by William S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and cross-examined by James M. Sheehan, attorney for the railroads involved.

The railroad managers present were interested in news of the freight rate advance granted by the interstate commerce commission, but said they could not gauge the effect until details were known, but that its influence among the roads party to the arbitration
would be comparative, slight.

Many Men Displaced.
Today's testimony served to emphasize much that was pointed out before, namely, that the big Mikado, Mallet and consolidated locomotives weighing double to quadruple the weight of the smaller engines of four and five years ago have replaced a large number of the latter, and the crews have been sized out of the railroad field. It appeared that, on an average, one crew
would be displaced with every crew placed on a big engine.

By the seniority rule recognized by all the roads, the older engine men take the big engines, the younger engine men lose their jobs. It was asserted that only a small percentage of these men could be taken care of in the roundhouses
and shops, because, as a matter of fact,
the roundhouse and shop forces are also reduced. The extent has the effect of delaying the time when a fireman may expect to become an engine-man and in the view of the petitioners in the case, earn some of the good salaries in their latter years in making up for the long, lean years spent in attaining the position. Rose who has been a fireman for five years, said he expected to have an engine in about 30 or 40 years.

Depression in Business.
Cross-examination showed that some of the layoffs of men were due to depression in business. Rose said that he could not have taken care of his family without the aid extended to him by relatives. Kane calculated that he might become an engineer in 10 or 12 years, while Jones, less hopeful, figured on 12 or 15. Rose answering a question by Judge Jeter C. Richman chairman of the board of arbitration said that in his district 50 per cent of the men had been dismissed solely because of the installation of heavy type locomotives. Rose told of an earlier disappointment in his career as a railroad man.

"I had been firing about two years,"
he said, "when I thought I'd like the lighter work as a brakeman. Firing was pretty heavy work. I got a tip that there would be a job for me at braking, so I resigned as fireman. I waited about 10 days and then I found that the job had got away. I went back firing, but at the bottom of the seniority list. For two years I had worked, waited for nothing and I was just that much further from the engineer's seat than I would have been."

Some Are Better Off.
Depression of the copper business had much to do with the laying off of engine crews in Montana, Jones said,
but the new engines also counted
against the men.

"Some of the men laid off are better fixed now than they were with the railroad, though," explained the witnesses. They have jobs as bricklayers, housecarriers and the like, and they're getting the same or better money for eight hours work-time and a half for overtime.

Much of the day's testimony was ejected to prove the contention of the men that the hostlers who have charge of locomotives in the roundhouses and yards, should be of the caliber of engineers and firemen, and should be paid accordingly. It appeared further that an average day's work for a fireman is to handle 25 tons of coal, or at the rate of about five 15-pound
shovelful a minute for a 10-hour day.

Telephone Girl Saves Lute of Woman Being Choke by Negro Robber

SAPULPA, Okla., Dec. 18.—Katie Nurvell, a telephone operator at Mounds, seven miles south of here, said before the switchboard early today. The annunciator on No. 413 dropped. Miss Nurvell plugged it and called "number started to replace the drop when she heard a woman's voice say:

"Don't! I'll tell you where it is!"
Alarmed, Miss Nurvell called the police, who went to the home of Fred Allen, a hardware dealer and found a negro choking Mrs. Allen because she wouldn't tell him where she kept the family valuables. Mrs. Allen was alone in the house.In her struggle with the negro she

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY REFUSES TO JOIN IN PETITION URGING PEACE FOR EUROPE

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The Archbishop of Canterbury and Dr. Dryander, the German church official, have refused to sign an appeal addressed to the Christian church urging them among other things "seriously to keep peace before their eyes in order that bloodshed soon
may cease."

The appeal has been signed by many prominent divines, including Bishop Green of New York and Bishop Tuttle of St. Louis. But although both the Anglican prelate and the German doctor of divinity are in entire accord with the signatures as the correspondence use published makes plain in devoutly hoping God may ordain that peace shall soon be restored, each is of the opinion, apparently, that the only peace to be desired is that found in the triumphant demonstration of the righteousness of his country's cause.The archbishop writes: "You may be certain that at the first moment
when it seems to me that an opening is presented for securing a righteous
peace."TWO ARE INDICTED FOR

BELGIAN CONSUL THANKS SPRINGS RELIEF WORKERS

Eleven Cases of New Clothing Sent by Colorado Springs Women Reach New York Safely

Mrs. Leslie J. Skelton, chairman of the Belgian Relief League, yesterday received the following letter from Pierre Mail, Belgian Consul in New York, acknowledging the receipt of the clothing shipped by the workers in this city.

Consulat de Belgique, 25 Madison Avenue, New York.
December 15, 1914.
Mrs. L. J. Skelton, 1225 North Tejon St., Colorado Springs, Colo.
Dear Madam: I am to acknowledge receipt of the six cases of new clothing which the Belgian Relief League of Colorado Springs has so kindly forwarded for the Belgian war sufferers. These garments are most acceptable, and will be among the first to be distributed to the needy. I am sure that the clothing shipped by the workers in this city.

We also received the five cases which you sent some time ago, which were forwarded abroad without delay. All of these garments are most acceptable and will do a great deal of good among the suffering Belgians, and I wish to assure you and all the members of your league that your kind efforts and generous sympathy are very deeply appreciated.

'Dry Dinner' Planned to Greet New Year

The Acadia hotel is the first of the Colorado Springs hostesses to announce its plans for a New Year's entertainment. The Acadia will start the festivities of watching the old year out with a "dry dinner." Just what this is is not definitely known, but it is understood that it will prove that there is just as much art in making "dry" drinks as those with a "punch" in them. Quite a number will be offered as the liquid for toasts after December 31, 1915. In addition to the "dry dinner," which will be served from 8 to 10 o'clock, there will be a cabaret entertainment, and 1914 will be danced out by the guests, dancing being announced after 10 o'clock. Table reservations are being made now.

CHECKS CROUT INSTANTLY. And you should also know the sense of security that comes from always having Foley's Hensley and Fox Compound in the house. It puts the thick mucus and clears away the phlegm, stops the straining cough and gives easy breathing and quiet sleep. Take it for coughs, colds, tickling throat, hoarseness and for bronchitis and all griping coughs. Contains no opiates. Every user is a friend. Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

CHARITIES 'WHITE LIST' IS ALMOST COMPLETED

Only $21 Needed to Take Care of Last Case in List for Which Special Appeal Was Made

With $21 more, the Associated Charities' "white list" will be completed. The newspapers of Colorado Springs, during the last few days, have set forth eight particularly worthy charity cases with an appeal for funds to care for them. Seven of the cases have been paid for, and the eighth and last has been subscribed. The case is described by the Associated Charities as follows:

A black little woman is trying to restore her tubercular husband to health, and at the same time support their little child. The doctor says the man can get well if he has good care and plenty of nourishing food. The woman is willing to work, but she cannot be away from home every day and still give the sick man such care as he demands. If her earnings can be supplemented by $12 per month for six months, we believe the husband's life can be saved.

"We suggest that two, three or more charitable people agree to take care of this case together."

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY 'ERL KING' AT BURNS TOMORROW

Several Other Excellent Numbers on Program of Fourth Sunday Afternoon Concert

The "Erl King" (Schubert) lieder arrangement will be the feature of the fourth concert by the Colorado Springs Musical club orchestra at the Burns theater tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Containing, as it does, five distinct pieces, the meaning and beauty of the number are best brought out by an orchestra, while at the same time the number plainly displays the quality of the organization playing it. There will be no soloist tomorrow. Willet R. Willis, chairman of the orchestra committee of the Musical club, has announced that on January 3 the combined boys' choirs of Grace and St. Stephen's Episcopal churches will appear with the orchestra, singing the "Hallelujah" chorus from "The Messiah" (Handel). For those who have never heard a trained boys' chorus the announcement will carry little meaning, but those who do know the beauties of a child's voice will greet it with more than ordinary enthusiasm.

The program for tomorrow's concert: Swedish Wedding March, Soderman; Overture, "Hungarian Comedy"; "The Erl King," Schubert-Liszt; Three Dances to Henry VIII., German; Morris dance; Shepherd's dance; Torch dance; Bagatelle, Heimendahl; Canonetta, Heimendahl; Forget-Me-Not (by request), MacBeth; Fantasia, opera "La Boheme," Puccini.

Huffalo, N. Y., has followed the Switzerland plan of treatment for tuberculosis by establishing an institution where its tuberculous children clad only in hats and loin cloths, are treated by sun baths.

Police Will Enforce 'Snowless Walk' Law

Special attention will be given today to the enforcement of the sidewalk ordinance, and property owners not clearing the snow from their walks will be arrested. Chief of Police Stark last night said that under no circumstances will snow be permitted to remain on sidewalks, and that owners of vacant lots and vacant property must give the matter their immediate attention.

FIREMEN RECOMMEND TWO-PLATOON SYSTEM

Claiming that the two-platoon system, which provides for two 12-hour shifts instead of one 24-hour shift will give the city better fire protection, the city firemen will submit a charter amendment to the voters next spring. The amendment will be similar to that in effect in Pueblo.

Blandin Guilty, Says District Court Jury

Brother of Motion Picture Actor Convicted of Taking Automobile; Car Valued at $800

Burdette Blandin, who says he is a brother of Romaine Fielding, a motion picture director who had a comedy here last summer, was found guilty by a jury in the district court last night of larceny as Blandin was charged with the theft of an automobile for his honeymoon trip from John R. Boling of Tulsa, Okla. The jury fixed the value of the car at $800. Blandin was found guilty on only one of the three charges preferred against him.

PROMINENT WOMEN WORK IN STORE FOR CHARITY

Will Be in Charge at Electric Company's Salesrooms All Day; Part of Receipts for Charity

Society women will drop other duties long enough today to spend an hour or so at the salesroom of the Colorado Springs Light, Heat and Power company for charity. Today the Electric company will give 20 per cent of its total sales to the Associated Charities. It is expected that almost $1,000 will be realized.

The charities will use the money to care for the many deserving cases which have been brought to its attention this winter and carry on the regular winter work of the association. Mayor McKesson, Agent Worcester of the Associated Charities and other officials, as well as other women, will be present at the official opening of the store at 10 o'clock this morning. The actual opening hour is 9 o'clock, the salesroom remaining open until 10 p. m.

Throughout the day there will be demonstrations of electrical cooking appliances, an orchestra will be in attendance, and light refreshments will be served by the company.

The following ladies will be in charge of the sales at the times given:

From 9 to 10 a. m.—Mrs. Arthur Bartlett, Mrs. Caldwell.
From 10 to 11 a. m.—Mrs. Arthur Perkins, Mrs. Henry W. Hoagland, Mrs. Eric Svensson, Mrs. C. L. Tutt, Mrs. A. A. Blackman.
From 11 to 12 m.—Mrs. Alfred Hunt, Mrs. W. W. Williamson, Mrs. C. J. Wright, Mrs. James T. Anderson, Mrs. J. Arthur Connell, Mrs. C. B. Schley.

MY DEAR FRIENDS:

I DO HATE TO WRITE THIS FOR FEAR OF ANNOYING YOU, BUT THE TIME HAS COME WHEN I MUST ASK A GREAT QUESTION, THE CONTEMPLATION OF WHICH HAS CAUSED ME MANY SLEEPLESS NIGHTS OF AGONY. YOU WILL UNDERSTAND MY RELUCTANCE IN WRITING YOU REGARDING A MATTER OF SUCH IMPORTANCE WHEN I TELL YOU THAT HAPPINESS, YES, WHOLE LIVES, HAVE BEEN UPSET BY SIMILAR MATTERS OF THIS KIND, STILL I FEEL YOU SHOULD KNOW THE WORST AT ONCE, FOR, WITH ALL SINCERITY, IT MAY MEAN LIFE OR DEATH TO ME. I DARE NOT COMMUNICATE THE STATE OF MY MIND TO MOTHER, FOR SHE CANNOT BE RELIED UPON IN A CASE OF THIS KIND, SO, IN MY DISTRESS, I APPEAL TO YOU, KNOWING THAT YOU LIKE ME TO SOME EXTENT. I KNOW THAT I AM ASKING A GREAT DEAL OF YOU, BUT WHILE YOU CONSIDER THIS GREAT QUESTION, I ASK YOU TO LAY ASIDE ALL WORK AND SOCIAL AFFAIRS AND DEVOTE YOUR ENTIRE ATTENTION TO BUYING YOUR MEATS OF THE NEW LIVE STOCK COMPANY.

IN THE NAME OF GOODNESS AND OUT OF THE FULLNESS OF MY HEART, I ASK YOU THIS QUESTION: DO YOU THINK THAT LITTLE JEFF WILL EVER BE AS TALL AS MUTT, OR THE NEW LIVE STOCK COMPANY AS LARGE AS THE BEEF TRUST?

HOPING TO HEAR FROM YOU WITH YOUR ORDERS, I REMAIN AS EVER, YOUR FRIEND,
NEW LIVE STOCK COMPANY.

Grand Jury to Begin Its Sessions Today

The grand jury, which was sworn in Thursday, will begin its active work today in division two of the district court. E. J. Ulrich is foreman of the jury. The request has been made that all persons wishing to make a complaint of a public nature should see the jury as soon as possible. It is understood that only routine matters are to come before the jury, but it is not known how long it will be in session.

What the Press Agents Say

"THE POLITICAL FEUD"

Today at the Empress is a dandy one. The Political Feud, a Domino (two-act) feature, is without question one of the greatest and most thrilling two-act plays ever exhibited on the screen. A play showing that in the matter of opportunities all are not born free and equal. Many of you have perhaps struck a snag in your upward climb to riches and fame. No doubt you have suffered a setback to your ambitions, and it may at some time or other happen again. The story of "The Political Feud" shows how one man overcame adversity, how, with birth, environment and poverty he struggled to the top and reached the goal of political achievement.

Shadows and Sunshine, a Princess imported feature starring Marion and Madeline Faithbinks, the famous Phonograph twins as well as Nolan and a pretty story, full of heart interest and pathos that will arouse your sympathies, and in which the thrill has not been forgotten.

Fatty's Magic Pants, a Keystone comedy, introducing the inimitable Renée (Fatty) Arbuckle, in a screaming farce, full of laughter and the fun of it. Fatty is loved by everyone that has seen his many and varied productions on the screen. Fatty's is made countless thousands laugh and driven dull care from the heart of many. We promise all those who see "Fatty's Magic Pants" 15 minutes of joyous continuous laughter that will make you feel better and brighter.

AT THE ODEON

The Harry Siebert-Smith Stock company will close their engagement at the Odeon theater with today's performance. In addition to the special Saturday feature program the stock company will present two tabloid plays. By insistent demand of hundreds their first offering "The New Chief of Police" will be repeated. This playlet has created somewhat of a sensation having attracted 120,000 people during two weeks run at Los Angeles. Miss Charlotte B. Meyer, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., has unqualifiedly endorsed "The New Chief of Police" and stated that the playlet played a great moral and that every mother should bring her daughters to see this playlet. Another miniature play that the stock company will present today is "The Convict and the Warden." A gripping melodramatic story that has made a hit here. A special matinee was given at Phoenix, Ariz. for Gov. George Hunt and he highly endorsed the playlet and the players. Both sketches will be produced at every performance today. The program running continuously from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m.

LEARNING THE FACTS

THESE are uncomfortable days for Mr. Wilson, Mr. Bryan, President Jordan and other ardent pacifists who believe with them that our swords should be converted into plowshares, even though they cannot yet glimpse the millennium. Some of these gentlemen, Dr. Jordan, for instance, aver that we do not need any defenses; they would scrap the navy as it stands, and disband the army. Others admit the necessity for defenses but declare that our present defenses are sufficient—President Wilson is in this class. Still others, like Mr. Bryan, think the proper method is to wait until war comes, then wave a magic wand and an army of a million men, with a navy of commensurate strength, will spring full armed from the ground, or from the water as the case may be.

But every day some army officer or naval officer, or other person who is in a position to know more about these things than any mere Chautauqua lecturer, tells a few words of solemn truth at the committee hearings in the House. And strange enough the truth is disagreeable and disconcerting. For instance, the other day Admiral Fiske told the committee that it would take five years to bring the navy to a state of preparedness where it could meet any other efficient navy.

General Wotherspoon, in his annual report, gave facts and figures which, reduced to plain English, showed that the American army is a mere sham. Representative Gardner has repeatedly imparted information concerning both the army and the navy which, unless it can be thoroughly discredited, ought to make every sane American realize that an actual danger threatens.

And now he has added to the committee's store of information on this subject. In his testimony yesterday he declared that of thirty completed battleships twelve are unavailable without a long delay "on account of our refusal to pay the bills for manning them." He said that if necessity had required us to go to war in August, when the European fight began, nine of our battleships would not have been ready to fight. "We have fifteen cruisers, twenty-two destroyers, eighteen torpedo boats, five submarines and perhaps a dozen miscellaneous fighting ships, kept in cold storage with the battleships. Eighty fighting vessels of our modest navy are not available for battle in an emergency."

Representative Gardner also declared that the navy is 18,000 men short, "and a further shortage of 40,000 men is in sight." There are only a dozen aeroplanes in the navy, and last year when an appropriation of $1,300,000 was recommended for the aviation service, Congress gave it $300,000. The result is that of all first-class powers the United States stands at the bottom of the list in the efficiency of its aviation service.

No president ever espoused a more unpopular cause than did Mr. Wilson when he opposed the maintenance of an adequate army and navy. If the world were at peace and the dreams of the pacifists seemed in process of realization it might have been otherwise. But the events of the last five months only serve to emphasize the warning of Washington "In time of peace prepare for war."

HELPING SANTA CLAUS

WHEN The Gazette announced two weeks ago that it would receive contributions, both of money and goods, to help fill Santa Claus' pack for his annual trip around Colorado Springs its sole purpose was to afford an opportunity to those who sincerely wished to increase the joys of Christmas for the poor. No subscription fund was started, nor has further effort been made to raise funds, but the response has been truly surprising. Generous friends have sent quantities of toys and other things suitable for the occasion, and there have been many cash donations which will help along the good work.

In this enterprise The Gazette is co-operating with the Associated Charities in order to avoid duplications of gifts. As a result Santa Claus will make a brief call on many a child in Colorado Springs who otherwise would not have a chance of renewing acquaintance with him this year. Again we protest that The Gazette is not soliciting funds, but we have no objection to any of our kindly-disposed readers sending in contributions. Every additional toy means another youngster made happy.

SHOVEL SNOW

FOR several days old Boreas has been threatening and bluffing and promising to send us a replica of last December's snow storm. He started in the same way last year—first four or five days of snow flurries, followed by four or five feet of the beautiful all in a hurry. And the rest is history.

We fully appreciate the value of snow to the farmer. The extraordinary precipitation last winter played an important part in the making of the two-million-dollar crop just harvested in El Paso County. Likewise, it is a fine thing in the mountains, for it enabled us to waste a tremendous lot of city water all the year long. But snow on the sidewalks, and too much of it in the city streets, is an undesirable visitor. It means discomfort and inconvenience for everybody. To the aged and infirm it means actual danger. We must not forget that this is a health resort, and there are a lot of people in Colorado Springs who do not dare to trust themselves slipping and sliding over an icy sidewalk.

Chief Stark has shown commendable enterprise in beginning his shovel-snow campaign early this year, for the first flurry brought from him a warning to all householders to keep their brooms and shovels in a handy place ready for the first necessity. We hope his vigilance will not relax during the winter, but it must be remembered that if all the police in Colorado Springs did nothing but look after snowy sidewalks they could not keep them clean without the cooperation of the people.

Remember that in keeping your sidewalk clean you are not merely obeying a law, but discharging an obligation to everybody who passes your house—the same obligation which you feel is your due when you walk past their houses. Don't wait until the snow is deep on your sidewalk and the storm ended. Sweep or shovel it off every morning, and keep up the good work while the winter lasts. It contributes to public safety and makes for an easy conscience.

THE LAW'S DELAY.

From the Chicago Tribune.
 Eighteen years ago a little girl of 3 was injured by a horse car in the streets of New York. As a result of the accident one of her legs was amputated, one eye blinded, and her nervous system so twisted that it was evident even then that the child would have to be a dependent all her life. The company was sued and a verdict of $3,000 was awarded the crippled girl of 12 years. That was 17 1/2 years ago. Since then the company operating the horse cars has been merged with another street car company. The crippled little girl has become a young woman—a dependent young woman. But she has not yet been paid the $3,000 damages the court awarded her. The original company was merged years later with the railroad company and the merged company has fought the verdict. They have fought it for 17 1/2 years. The lawyer who defended the girl was disbarred through the efforts of the company. Later the disbarment was lifted because it was found that evidence against him had been manufactured by the railroad company in question. The crippled and dependent girl had twice tried to commit suicide, but was saved. By the time a way is found to compel the railroad company to pay her the damages which the law awarded her nearly 18 years back the girl will probably have succeeded in ending her life.

US AND BARNES.

From the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.
 Foral or eight years the editor of the Gazette has been one of the vice presidents of the American Short Ballot association. During that time Woodrow Wilson was president and Brand Whitlock and W. S. U'ren of Oregon and Senator Owen were also vice presidents. Now comes our good old enemy, Barnes of New York, and John. We welcome Barnes. He is on the right line. He evidently is getting tired of the loss business or he wouldn't be in the short ballot movement. For on a long ballot only the boss knows the candidates, and can vote wisely. On a short ballot all the people may know all the candidates. Barnes was elected to the constitutional convention of New York last week by a comfortable majority. He declared for the short ballot as one of his cardinal principles. If there had been but two candidates and the other had been against the short ballot and had been subject to Tammany influence, Barnes would have had to hear up under the odium of our vote. The short ballot is the natural complement of the primary law. It is the next important change in American government. The primary is of no importance with the long ballot, for no matter how much power you give the people, they cannot use it wisely unless they know the candidates they are voting for. And the only way they can know the candidates they are voting for, and later the kind of public servants these candidates make, is to shorten the ballot in the election, and concentrate authority and power in government.

The fact that Barnes is for this proposition does weaken our faith in the proposition, but it does strengthen our faith in the Mascolo theory of humanity that there is some good in every one.

GUINS TO CONTROL "GUNMEN"

From the Kansas City Star.
 "The government which can wield the arm of the people must be the strongest possible." That is one of Thoreau's Jeffersonian aphorisms. Jefferson thought democracy should be as efficient as monarchy. He had particular reference to peace.

Bernard Shaw applies the Jeffersonian idea of war. This "philosophic wit" scoffs at the idea of pacific powers disarming or refusing to arm. "The League of Peace," he writes, "must have a first rate armament, or the League of War will make mincemeat of it." As a matter of fact, it is the man behind the gun and not the gun that makes either for peace or for war. Shaw says, "And if that man really means the peace of the world to be kept he will take care to have a gun to keep it with." "The notion," he says, "that the men of evil intent are to have all the weapons will not work." "Our business is not to disable ourselves or anyone else, but to organize a balance of military power against war whether made by ourselves or any other power; and this can be done only by a combination of armed and fanatical pacifists of all nations, not by a crowd of non-combatants wielding deprecations, remonstrances and Christmas cards." That does sound sensible.

ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART GROW FONDER

From the Chicago Tribune.
 A Washington correspondent of the New York World reports that between October 14 and November 28 Secretary Bryan gave 19 days to his official work—less than 25 per cent of his time. From our point of view this percentage is too large rather than too small. The World does not view the facts from this point of view. It bitterly reproaches the state department for undemocratic methods, autocratic secrecy, and insolent bureaucracy and demands "more government by principals and less government by subordinates."

If the Tribune could bring itself to share the World's well known confidence in the administration for Mr. Bryan as a careful, consistent and informed international statesman it would promptly support the World's appeal for a larger percentage of his time at his desk. But we are unable to conceal our suspicion that our affairs of state are being handled as well in Mr. Bryan's absence on circuit as when he is in charge—and better. This is not an ideal situation. But the World would do well to let well enough alone and until there is a chance for something much better than Mr. Bryan promises. We sympathize heartily with the World's protest against secret diplomacy. It is a product of the European system which we would better not imitate. This is a government more or less of the people and we prefer to make our own international entanglements rather than have them spun for us by a professional maker of difficulties. A certain measure of official reticence is desirable, or even necessary, but there should be more publicity as to policies and serious engagements than now is given. The senate committee on foreign relations does not provide a sufficient check.

Christmas With a Long "I"

BY RUTH CAMERON

If we pronounced the "I" in Christmas long instead of short, I wonder if we should still be able to forget and ignore the meaning of the day so completely as we do of us seem to do.

Christmas is the anniversary of Christ's birthday. That is a perfectly simple and obvious fact (although, being most of us, strangely ashamed of our religion we do not often speak of such things openly). But, how many people really sense that fact? And how many people live it into their holiday season?

Love is the first law of the Lord of Christmas. Though we wear ourselves out sewing, embroidery, knitting and all the rest, though we spend our last penny and bankrupt ourselves for weeks to come on Christmas gifts; though we consider our friends' tastes and give them the things they like and not what we like or think is good for them; though we tie up our bundles with plenty of red ribbon and holly and forget not the Red Cross stamps; though we painstakingly remember the poor; though we do all these things and do not put the spirit of love and happiness and peace and good will into our Christmasmaking, we have assuredly failed to celebrate the King's birthday as he would wish.

Suppose this year we make a greater effort than usual not to forget what this celebration is about. In our preparation for the day, in the tired-business of the night before, through all the excitement of the day itself and through the difficult anticlimax of the day after, let's try not to lose sight of the fact that this isn't just gift-giving, but Christmas—with a long "I!"

Let's determine that we will put an extra guard on our tongues and not let slip a single unkind or impatient word through all the Christmas season.

In this coming week let us keep the ideal of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men" constantly in our hearts. Let us absolutely refuse to permit this to be a season of hurry and worry, of calculations and heart-burnings and mercenary calculations. Let us, instead, make the Christmas of 1914 a season of old hates buried and old friendships renewed, of greater courtesy and kindness towards those who serve us and of special tenderness and love towards those who are always at the core of our hearts but whose very nearness makes us careless of expression and affection.

Love me and tell me so sometimes," says Paul Hamilton. Could there be a better time to tell it than the season that is sacred to the Lord of Love?

CALAIS

CALAIS, towards which Emperor Wilhelm has been advancing backward for some time, is a town of 60,000 situated on the French side of the English channel. It is 18 miles from England as the steamer pines and about 4,900 as the passenger feels.

CALAIS is connected with Paris by a railroad which runs trains at a speed which would "strike an American railroad president with awe. It is readily approached from England, but the facilities for getting from Calais to England are remarkably poor. The tourist and traveling man can accomplish the feat, but the last army which got across the channel from the Calais side accomplished the feat in 1916. Calais has a fine harbor and is a great seaport and railroad terminus. During the last year over 400,000 passengers arrived in the city from England and about 329,000 of them were white and green about the mouth. For this reason the city is greatly beloved by the tourist. Nothing looks so fair to the traveler who is hanging onto the ship's rail and also his shoes as Calais, booming up fair and peaceful and entirely stable, beyond the tossing English channel.

CALAIS has had an eventful history. A thousand years ago it was a small fishing village. It then became an important Flemish town and in the Thirteenth century it was fortified—after which the English spent a good deal of time shooting at it with whatever was handy. They captured it in 1346 after a week's siege and held it for over 100 years. About that time England under Queen Mary was suffering from overconfidence and other things and when 20,000 Frenchmen attacked the garrison of 800 Calais fell. Queen Mary declared afterward that the word "Calais" was written on her heart. It would have been better if the writing had been done on a memorandum pad, where she would not have overlooked it.

CALAIS was afterwards captured by the Spaniards and later recovered by the French. For many years it has been inhabited by a particularly ferocious tribe of customs officials. It is a picturesque town with a citadel almost 400 years old and some piled cannon, considerably younger, tilted away in the most unexpected places. It is nearer to England than any other French city, which has always been the source of its prosperity, but which is now the cause of its most uncomfortable and damning popularity with the Germans.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Twice the night before Christmas And down in the cellar A barrel was let fall By a strapping big feller.

A wee little mouse, Who lived thereabout, Saw a leak in the barrel And something run out.

Now the barrel held whiskey, But this little guy Was raised in Kansas And knew nothing of rye.

The mouse first tasted The stuff that was wasted, And liked the sensation. For it made him feel racy.

He says "I'll just get enough Of this awful stuff Before that big bluff 'Comes and takes it away."

And the wee little mouse, Filled his wee little skin So full of the liquor That no more could get in.

He gave one big jump To the top of the keg, Coked his head on one side And waved his front leg.

"I'm as brave as a lion, I could lick that damn cat If he came along now."—Author furnished on request.

16 N. Tejon

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 19, 1884.
 There was a meeting of the Prohibition league at the Congregational church to decide on measures to enforce the liquor laws of Colorado Springs.

Rev. A. R. Kieffer, rector of Grace church, had been appointed dean of southern Colorado by Bishop Spalding.

Dr. J. A. Hall had returned from a short visit to the east.

Howbert A. Whittle proposed to introduce roller polo, which was very popular in the east, in their skating rink here.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 19, 1894.
 Richard Newell, Jr., chief engineer of the Midland Terminal railroad, was murdered by a man named Van Houten near Independence, in the Cripple Creek district. Van Houten was angry because the railroad crossed his property and had not made what he considered a proper settlement. Mr. Newell was very popular and there was some talk of lynching his murderer, but Deputy Sheriff Len Jackson brought him safely to the jail here.

M. F. Warren, the jeweler, had just installed some of the handiest showcases ever seen in this city at his store, 9 North Tejon street.

COLD WEATHER TROUBLES

At this season of the year we have a great many inquiries regarding chilblains, chapped hands, cracked and chapped lips, and frost bites. We have decided to publish information as to methods for the relief of the annoyance caused by these conditions.

CHILBLAINS—Chilblains are caused by poor circulation of blood in the feet, often caused by tight shoes. The first thing to do, therefore, is to improve the circulation of blood in the feet. Comfortable shoes should be worn and the stockings changed daily. Woolen stockings should not be worn and the feet should be kept away from heat. The following treatment will give relief: Plunge the feet frequently into cold water containing salt or a little ammonia; or bathe them with kerosene oil. Dry thoroughly and rub gently with talcum powder. Paint with two coats of iodine, allowing the first coat to dry before applying the second.

CHAPPED HANDS—Soak the hands in hot soap water for 10 or 15 minutes. Rub well. Rub with camphor ice, cold cream, or vaseline, and dust with talcum powder. The powder prevents the cream from being rubbed off. To prevent the hands from becoming chapped they should be dried thoroughly.

CHAPPED LIPS—Apply camphor ice or cold cream night and morning, and during the day if necessary. If very dry or sore sponge with but water before applying grease.

CRACKED LIPS—The lips should first be softened by steaming or washing with hot water, then rubbed with camphor ice or vaseline. Wipe off the superfluous grease, pull the crack together, and place a small strip of adhesive plaster across the crack. This should be done over night.

FROST BITE—The frozen part should be plunged into very cold water or rubbed with snow or crushed ice. Remove from the water and rub gently. Plunge into cold water every ten seconds until sensation returns. Keep away from fire and warm rooms.

DuRoi gives the following treatment for frost bites, which is radically different from the above, but he says that experiments in Russia and elsewhere have shown that it is the best way.

"All forms of frost bite or local freezing are to be treated in the same way, which consists in gradually bringing up the temperature to the normal point (about 90 degrees Fahrenheit) and maintaining it there. For this purpose moderate friction or soaking in moderately hot water or the application of warm wet cloths. Rubbing with snow is useful in certain countries where snow is plentiful and the custom is well established, but it is the rubbing and not the cold that does the good. The practice of soaking frost-bitten feet in cold water will soon be abandoned by anyone who gives a fair trial to warm water."

CONTINUE EATING PLAN.
 E. M. K. writes: "I go to high-school two nights a week. The school is on the south side of Chicago and I live on the north side. I find it a difficulty for me to go home for supper and be at home at 7:30 o'clock, so I eat a light supper downtown and at 10:30, when I get home from school, I eat a heavy supper. I have been doing that for a couple of weeks and it does not seem to bother me in any way. Is the way I am doing now all right?"

REPLY.
 Continue your present plan. Ventilate your bedroom well.

TAPEWORM TREATMENT.
 M. W. writes: "What is a cure for tapeworm?"

REPLY.
 If you have a tapeworm, you had better have it cured by your physician. You may be able to tell if the head has come away, but I doubt it. More important than the medicine to be given is the preliminary treatment. For three days before the treatment eat nothing but soup, milk and bread. Keep the bowels open with castor oil. The evening preceding the treatment take a dose of salts. The next morning eat no breakfast. Toward noon take about two cups of a paste made with mashed pumpkin seeds and sugar. Four hours later take a dose of castor oil.

College Pugilist Upsets All Ring Tradition Expects to Fight His Way to Title Class

By HARVEY T. WOODRUFF

Tex O'Rourke, who, as the reader may surmise, hails from Texas, is the newest aspirant for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world. "Tex" differs from the usual run of this type in that he made money in other occupations until he could afford to be a fighter. He absolutely refuses to be called a "white-horse."

All things considered, O'Rourke is the most unusual person who ever has come forward with the call of the padded mitts sounding in the ears. He was engaged in a good deal of work as an income of approximately $500 per month would not be like standing the buffeting and hardship of a precarious climb to a berth among the leading heavyweights. Neither would he. Not so O'Rourke—and that is not his real name, by the way.

This newcomer is a former student of Hiram College and Ohio State University at Columbus, where he finished his junior year of preparation for a law degree, quitting because he needed money more than education. He has played basketball, football and baseball, both professional and amateur. He has won prizes in a rowing regatta. He owns land on the lake of Pines. He is sales manager and stockholder in a muscle exerciser company. His address and bearing suggest the college man rather than the ringster. Such is the type of man who aspires to the highest pugilistic honors.

There is another point about this pleasant faced but serious young man of 24 years who stands six feet two inches and weighs 225 pounds. He does not imagine he will tread any primrose path to the fame and his incidental wealth. He confesses to little experience beyond his natural advantages. He admits he will need at least a year of preparation for any serious engagement. He expects hard knocks, and he expects to get his face mugged up, as he expresses it, before he rises far in the game.

O'Rourke is under the tutelage of Harry Forbes and under the management of "Kid" Howard. This pair, ex-lance man rather than the ringster, such is the type of man who aspires to the highest pugilistic honors. O'Rourke's early training in Texas had taught him many useful things, so he spent his summer on the Ohio country fair circuit, securing concession privileges at different meetings. His earnings enabled him the following fall to enter Ohio State university, which he attended three years, quitting at the end of his junior year because of study and financial difficulties.

O'Rourke's amateur status was questioned by the Ohio State authorities and rejected, so he played professional basketball with the Canton Tigers at $12.50 per game in a league composed of town teams from various small mills at Madison, Kenton, East Liverpool and South Side Pittsburg. In his year and a half of play the Tigers did not lose a game. Later he played with Pittsburg and Kenton.

Had Races in Texas.
After leaving Ohio state O'Rourke returned to Texas for a swing around the Texas fair circuit and there engaged in the first pugilistic bout, a half dozen in number. These affairs were against local champions in connection with the fair races then in vogue. "Tex" scored two opponents in his first round, secured three six round and one ten round decision.

"Were any of your opponents good?" O'Rourke was asked.
"I have heard of any of them afterwards," answered the youthful "Tex."
"Ever do any other fighting?"
"None since I used to fight all the time when a boy. See those front teeth marks on my knuckles. They're lasting souvenirs from boyhood fights. But in those days I always got at least one lick for every fight. That came when I got home. So I was under a disadvantage."

There was little money in a future in the lush lights of Texas, therefore O'Rourke accepted a guarantee of $50 per week to play back ball with the East Houston team, and on the side took a course of boxing lessons under Steve O'Donnell, intending to enter the national amateur boxing tournament until the N. A. A. U. looked askance at his professional basketball record.

Basketball Will Help Footwork.
For commercial training played basketball professionally, and found time to try for a position with the Linn house ball team of the New England league. He took part in 14 games in 1911 while the regular catcher was disabled. Then "Tex" was released because he was not a successful stickler. As a paddler on the successful fast canoe of the Arlington club he helped set a record of 5:00 for the mile in the Boston "Old Home week" regatta.

About this time O'Rourke was employed by a land company and went to Cuba as its representative. He has made four trips since and has acquired some citrus fruit land of his own which he considers valuable, although its present yield is principally taxes.

In 1912 "Tex" sold his Boston studio and went to New York as publicity man for the Whiteley Exerciser company, of which he is, at present, sales manager. He owns stock in the company and also has an income from royalties on patents which he took out on a wrist machine, punching bag and several minor devices.

Inspector Harry Forbes argues that O'Rourke's speed as a basketball forward will insure clever footwork, and that his developer exercises will make him a two-handed boxer. His best blows are the left hook and right uppercut. His movements show a practically even development on both sides of the body. He has been an expert juggler of Indian clubs, and that is counted upon for the quick eye.

"That you can't be answered in a year fight," said O'Rourke. "No pretty ugly when I get mad." But he doesn't look it.

O'Rourke will remain in Chicago on business until after the holidays, continuing his education at Forbes' gymnasium. This fall a boxing hall is planned by the Illinois legislature he will make this his home. Trial bouts against second raters will follow until Manager Howard thinks him ready for a convincing test.

"Will you fight Jack Johnson?" was the natural query put to the Texan.
"I'd rather not. But, anyway, I think he'll be beaten before I get that far. If not, I'll move him if it is necessary, and I'm thought to be good enough. It's just the same as I am accepting the name as I find it."

O'Rourke is affable and intelligent. If Forbes' claims him, success he will make the most popular champion since "Gentleman Jim" Corbett.

'TICKLED TO DEATH,' SAYS ROWLAND; HAS BEEN SOX PROTEGEE

Comiskey Has Been Looking After Minor Leaguer for Many Years

DUBUQUE, Ia., Dec. 18.—Clarence M. Rowland, the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, when asked for a statement today, had this to say: "The opportunity I have been striving to obtain—the chance of handling a major league ball club—has been realized, and to say that I am pleased is entirely too mild—I am tickled to death."

"Throughout my career in baseball, Charles A. Comiskey has been my staunchest friend and supporter. He has been my ideal. It was on his recommendation and through him that I secured the position of handling clubs that I did. He is now placing me in a position where I can repay him for helping me in the past. I intend to give him all that I have in me."

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—The fact that Rowland is to pilot the White Sox next season was made public today by Secretary Harry Grabner shortly after he received Rowland's signed contract.

The signing of Rowland means the passing of James Callahan as manager of the White Sox. Callahan, according to unofficial reports, will remain on Comiskey's payroll. In what capacity it is not known, however. Timmons have it that he will either be vice president and business manager or in charge of the recruiting department.

The signing of Rowland came like the bursting of a bombshell over the baseball colony. Little is known of him among Chicago's fan colony.

As a minor league pilot, Rowland holds an enviable reputation. Last season, he took charge of a fall-end club at Peoria and finished second. For three years prior to that he was at the helm of the Dubuque club, serving as president and manager, and his success there was pronounced.

Comiskey has known Rowland for many years, and has always considered him a smart baseball man. Comiskey believes, according to Secretary Grabner, that he has picked a man with natural ability as a leader, who will develop into one of the star managers of the major leagues. "That is just how much confidence Mr. Comiskey has in Rowland's ability to make good as a leader," said Grabner.

Rowland is a native of the Texas. "I'd rather not. But, anyway, I think he'll be beaten before I get that far. If not, I'll move him if it is necessary, and I'm thought to be good enough. It's just the same as I am accepting the name as I find it."

NO-DECISION BOUTS SPELL RUIN FOR BIG GAME IN THE RING

Britisher Welsh Is Having a Hard Time to Keep Head Above the Water

By FRANK G. MENKE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The no-decision rule that governs fights in most states is making a joke of the boxing game. It acts as a haven of refuge for champions who want to gather in the shakels and are too cowardly to risk their titles in a real fight.

Freddie Welsh is known as the lightweight champion of the world, but Welsh right now hasn't any more moral right to that title than you have. Welsh was outpointed in two fights since he came to America, but referees, because of the New York and Wisconsin state laws, were not allowed to give decisions and Welsh, although beaten, retained the title.

Shugrue Handles His Man.
Young Shugrue met Welsh in New York a few weeks ago and gave him a most artistic as well as a brutal beating. It was Shugrue's fight all the way. The young Jersey scrappier, bored through Welsh's guard time and again and landed on him almost at will. Welsh, on the other hand, had a hard job finding an opening, and when he did land his blows lacked power.

Welsh has pulled in close to $50,000 for about six fights since he came to this country. Every bout he has fought has been in states where decisions were not allowed. He and his manager have been very careful about that. They aren't taking any chance on Welsh losing his title.

Welsh, in our opinion, is afraid to try conclusions in this country with Willie Ritchie or any other two-notch lightweight in states where decisions are allowed. Such a fight, in the far off future, he may be hypnotized into such a match. But it will be the far off future. Welsh is "on the make." He is out to make as much money as he can by stalling around for 10 or 12 rounds and doing little else than to protect himself from a knockout punch.

Guards Against "Sleeper."
That's about all Welsh has done in the fights since he has been here—guard against a sleep-producing wellop. That's all he's afraid of. He hasn't worked for points. He hasn't gone in and mixed, striking toe to toe and thus giving the public value received. He has fought defensively and cautiously, looking at it from Welsh's point of view. "These tactics are wise ones. Looking at it from the viewpoint of the public that pays out large sums of money to see Welsh fight, it isn't a fair deal."

Welsh is afraid to fight. He doesn't fight—he stalls. And Bob Fitzsimmons asserts that a stalling fighter is a fighter who gets his money under false pretenses.

Some day Welsh will go up against a fighter in a no-decision bout, and that fighter may be able to slip over a knockout punch. But that is a vague possibility as long as Welsh continues fighting defensive fights. It's a fairly simple matter for a master boxer like Welsh to guard his chin and his solar plexus region when facing a slugger. It's he gets all of his time and energy to that, and to that alone. That's what Welsh has been doing.

KID GEORGE SCORES K. O.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 18.—"Kid" George of Sacramento, Cal., decisively beat Al Smalting of this city tonight in a scheduled six-round fight. George dropped his man for the count.

President Farrell of the New York Americans is said to have decided on Florida as the state in which his team will do its spring training.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A local paper quoting an unnamed National league manager, prints today a story that Joe Kelly, the former Baltimore star and leader last year of the Toronto team, will be manager of the New York Americans should the Ruppert-Houston deal go through. Kelly, it is said, is a personal friend of Captain Huston. He was manager of the Cincinnati club for several seasons.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Lee Magee, former St. Louis National league outfielder, will manage the Brooklyn Federal league team next season, according to an announcement tonight by R. B. Ward, president of the club.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Prior to the announcement made shortly before midnight that the interstate commerce commission had granted a restricted 5 per cent freight advance to the eastern railroads, the stock market was dropping at a pace which strongly suggested liquidation. In the brief period between the opening of the market and the publication of a summary of the decision, prices crumbled two to three points, and were 10 to 15 points under the high level reached on Tuesday, when open trading in the entire list was reestablished.

Some shares were within a few points of the minimum prices and seasoned buyers were declining for lack of support. What made the movement noteworthy was the fact that it took very little stock to effect the decline. The average transaction at that time was in 100 and 200 shares, with losses between sales extending to one-half point or more.

Although the advance received in the financial district respecting the decision were somewhat misleading, they were of a tenor to indicate that many of the more important demands of the railroads had been granted. This was sufficient to precipitate a hasty covering of the decision by the bears and induced the market to recover. The advance obliterated all early losses, but restored the average of prices well above the previous day. Realizing in the final hours caused another shading of values, with few net changes at the end.

By a vote of the railway situation the decision made the interstate commerce commission was regarded with importance. It was nullified in large part, it was said, by the failure to include coal, coke and iron ore in the list of commodities entitled to higher rates. Most of the eastern rates derive a large part of their tonnage from the coal fields. In some cases the percentage running almost up to 70 per cent.

Time money was easier, the rate for all dates being reduced to 4 per cent. Large amounts of call money were resorted to at 3 per cent. The local federal reserve bank lowered the lead of similar institutions elsewhere by lowering its discount rates.

Bonds were heavy at the outset, but recovered with stocks. Total sales, par value, $1,392,000.

United States government bonds were unchanged on call. Quotations furnished by Otis & Co. Open, High, Low, Close.

Don't contract for your Christmas Turkeys until you see my fancy stock Monday and get my price. All that got a Turkey from me Thanksgiving are still speaking words of praise for the Turkey. I sent them then and all are leaving orders for one of the same brand for Christmas. Order from me and save money and have a good Turkey, too.
